

Anchor Men and Women

Extract from Tony Harriman's Blog: "What's It All About?"

Around the world there are thousands of what are known as "News Anchors." These are the men and women who are given the job of delivering the daily offerings of worldwide or local news items. If you didn't know it, you need to know, all these people are actors. They are paid to read scripts, usually displayed on what are known as "teleprompters." We need the news anchors, honest ones at least. We want to know what's going on in the world around us. We'd like to think that we get more than bubble-gum news stories -- stories that are full of words, but really tell us nothing worthwhile.

The Bible contains no bubblegum news reports. There is nothing in it especially garnered to make anyone rich in earthly treasure. There is no local weather report, nor information regarding the stock market. The only news you'll find within the pages of the Bible is Good News. "Things are bad right now, but, Praise God, things are going to get better." No matter our circumstances, they are not going to remain this way. This world will not go on like this forever, of that you may be assured. No matter how broken you may know you are -- whether through circumstance or your own practised effort -- there is peace available such as we have never known. Things are going to get better. This Universe is going to heal -- everywhere -- from the very small to the very large. From the very near to the very far. And for sure, some things are very far away.

The Bible is not the key to Heaven, it is the map to the key. The same is true for the hymnal and the Book of Nature. All these things point the way to the Throne of God, but will all eventually pass away. Everything that has been created testifies of its Creator, but contains no means for salvation. Salvation is a gift of God, not the wages of education. All these things show the way to our Father, but the journey is ours alone to make.

As you encourage people to read the Bible, you are pointing them to the place where they can read for themselves the best news report that exists. Yes, there are all kinds of rabbit holes a person may go down as they read the sacred report. He or she may read of wars and rumours of wars. A person may read of famines, pestilences, and more. But a reader of the Bible will quickly become convinced that there are two wars being fought right now. One is an earthly war for lands and properties. But there is another war being fought, a more important war, though not so easily seen. This is a war between unseen warriors. One side is seeking the destruction and loss of human souls. The other side is seeking to save those souls. The Bible opens our eyes to the important issues and instructs us in how to cooperate with angelic warriors and the Spirit of our Father; Both are seeking to keep us safe in this dangerous realm, and to encourage us regarding a better world that is soon to come.

There's only One Anchor that truly matters: Jesus Christ and Him crucified, the only Anchor necessary for the comfort and saving of the soul. If you keep that reality uppermost on your spiritual to-know list, your world will start to look a little different, and your evangelism will take on a bigger meaning than it perhaps has till now.
