20/20 Vision

Have a plan—you can walk away from ...

I'T'S HARD TO BELIEVE HOW TIME FLIES; HERE WE ARE almost half-way through 2015—2015! Very few believers with an eye on prophetic Scripture can comprehend that we've come this far in earthly time. It's been two thousand years since our Lord ascended to glory. Two thousand years of wars and rumors of wars. Two thousand years of evangelistic efforts. And here we sit, still on the brink of eternity, still watching and waiting; and, though in more than one way, still hungering and thirsting.

Sometimes, when we wonder, "How much longer shall we suffer this?" we might feel guilty of exercising a lack of faith. But should we? After all, similar words were uttered by Jesus Himself—on several occasions. The words, "How long shall I suffer you?" fell from His lips on the ear of peasant and dignitary alike. It's a human cry, one that has ascended to God almost since the beginning of our time here. And will ascend almost till the moment we leave this cursed and polluted soil.

We quickly lose track of how many voices announce the day and the hour of the end of the world. Our hopes rise and sink as each year rolls into the next; our children are born, grow up, leave us and have families of their own. Time and distance inevitably separate the closest of friends, while the marks of time creep across our mirrors, steal our earthly joy, and confuse our minds with old age till all we have left is just the comfort of the Lord.

Suppose the world should go on for at least another 4½ years and you wake up the morning of January 1st 2020? You might remember waking January 1st 2000 and being pleasantly surprised that the world had not sunk into mayhem. You quickly went on with your life just like you might if the world should roll around to January of 2020. Would it be a lack of faith to make plans today to be ready for the future? Any future? There seems to be no Heavenly commendation for the man who doesn't take into account what his future might cost. Ah, but you say, it's different for the ones sent by Jesus to evangelize city to city. "Take no extra," are the words from our Lord. Yes, but not for the one building his house; he has to count his pennies and make sure he's able to finish what he starts. He's not taking his building on the road, like a bird building a nest hither and yon.

Throughout our years at IBE we have laid careful plans for our evangelistic efforts. With your support we continue to scatter seed where there is no seed. From Greenland to Australia we have strewn our publications like leaves of autumn, and we continue to do so. We know not how long things shall go, or how quickly they shall end. We will happily cast our unfulfilled plans at the feet of Jesus when He returns; but we have no intention of having no intent for tomorrow. You might say we have ... 20/20 vision. Thank you for your continued support and for making us a part of your future.
