

“Behold, I Stand at the Door ...”

A banquet is spread for those who open the door and welcome Him in —

THE BARRIERS SEPARATING CUBA FROM THE free world are quickly coming down. A week or two ago the first commercial flight from the USA in fifty years landed in Santa Clara, Cuba, indicating that relations between the USA and Cuba were getting back to the old normal. Evangelistic enterprises are discussing how to spread the Gospel among these fertile minds.

Because of the Presidential Race for the White House, Cuba has lately been given very little primetime attention. But the open borders have not escaped the attention of our little ministry. We are making plans to take advantage of unlocked doors and open minds. Because, though the doors will likely remain open, the minds will likely not — for long. It will just be a little while, and the Cuban children born today will have no way of relating to the struggle of their parents, many of whom perished in the idyllic waters of the Caribbean Sea as they tried to escape Communism in craft not much bigger than a compact-size car. In one generation the nightmare of imprisonment will begin to fade, just as it did in Russia, and things will settle down to Democratic business as usual.

We are formulating a plan to send tens of thousands of books to the Island. We’re figuring out accommodation, transportation, food — everything it takes to spread seeds of truth in the foreign field. We are soliciting your prayers, your financial support. In a short while we are going to ask you to get involved; we’re going to need people to get down there and get to work passing out books. We are going to ask you to sponsor someone who is willing and able to go, but can’t pay their own way — you know how that often goes.

Truthfully, we don’t know how long the doors will remain open, so this is a time for action! It would be helpful if you can speak Spanish, but not necessary; we’ve been to many countries where we haven’t spoken the local language. A handful of useful phrases are generally all that’s needed. “Free Book!” “This is for you” — nothing complicated.

With your help we’ve been around much of the globe with our truth-filled publications. Through more than a hundred countries in scores of languages our books have carved a path for the Holy Spirit to engage the minds of many, many souls. Surely this latest people group will be among the last generation to be saved from our dying planet. Surely the doors are opening so that the world may close.

While we wait for our Lord to return, we have multiple choices for how we may spend the time given us. Pick a cause; the list is endless. But the cause that will be seen to matter most is the Cause of Christ. Jesus came here to set the captives free — walk with Him and that’s what you’ll do, too. Your Mission World Family
